Name	Universidad Carlos III de Madrid
Short description	The Universidad Carlos III de Madrid (UC3M) was founded in 1989 with the intention of being a top quality and innovative public university. The mission of this university is aimed at serving as a contributing factor to the improvement of society through the offering of quality filled teaching and advanced investigation skills which are up to the standards of demanding international criteria. This university aspires to achieve excellence within all its activities. Our previous experience in management of international projects (including a European project of Culture which was finalized in 2015) turns us into a qualified team, guaranteeing a correct implementation of the designed projects.
